DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This Office Action is in response to applicant's amendment filed on February 6, 2006.

Claim 1 has been cancelled. Claims 2-5 are newly added claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gavrilovich (U.S. Patent No. 3,773,040) in view of Chaney (U.S. Patent No. 5,779,621). Gavrilovich discloses in Figures 6-8 an elastic band (64) having the Velcro type attaching units at each end but on opposite sides of the flat portion. The Velcro type unit is indefinitely adjustable and the device is brought into the configuration shown in Figure 8 by merely wrapping it around the base of the organ and pressing the outermost end (72) upon the innermost end (74), whereby the Velcro hooks interlocks as indicated at (76). The Gavrilovich device lacks the markers, as recited. Chaney discloses in Figure 3 a penis gauge (35) wrapping around the base of the penis. Figures 4-7 illustrating the gauges (35, 45, 55, 65) with graduated markings which codes of which are corresponding with sizes of constriction ring. Therefore it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the Gavrilovich's band include the graduated markings as taught by Chaney as such would be indicative of the stages of erection to achieve full erection status.

The Gavrilovich, as modified, would inherently capable of performing the method claims as recited.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
